

TITANIUM DIOXIDE CATALYSED PHOTO-OXIDATION OF METHYL VIOLET

K. TENNAKONE<sup>a,b,†</sup>, S. PUNCHIHEWA<sup>a</sup>, S. WICKREMANAYAKA<sup>a</sup> and R. U. TANTRIGODA<sup>c</sup>

<sup>a</sup>Institute of Fundamental Studies, Hantana, Kandy (Sri Lanka)

<sup>b</sup>Department of Physics, University of Ruhuna, Matara (Sri Lanka)

<sup>c</sup>The Open University of Sri Lanka, Nawala, Colombo (Sri Lanka)

(Received May 24, 1988; in revised form July 26, 1988)

Summary

The photodegradation of methyl violet in an oxygen-purged aqueous solution containing TiO<sub>2</sub> was studied. The effective rate constants for complete mineralization were determined as a function of pH, temperature and the concentration of the catalyst.

OP 36